ABOARD PRISON
TRAIN ENROUTE TO AT-LANTA, May 4.—Alphonse
("Scarface Al") Capone
was speeding from notoriety to the ultimate oblivion of prison walls today.

Shackled to another prisoner and carefully guarded by his escort of officers, the monarch of gangland, whose throne has begun to totter,
was on his way to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. There he must pay a legally stipulated price of ten years of his freedom to a society whose laws he flouted for a decade with his far-flung liquor, vice and gambling activities.

To Serve 11 Years

Shortly after 7 p. m. tonight the train, bearing the convicted gang chief, was due to pull into the rail yard of the Atlanta prison. Before another sunrise Scarface Al will have embarked on the prison term levied upon him for having evaded payment of the income tax during three of the most lucrative years of his reign as underworld king of Chicago. Under the provisions of his sentence, he must return to Chicago at the end of ten years to serve another year in the Cook county jail.

Capone is Bitter

As the prison train hurtled southward over the flat lands of the midwest, Capone gazed sadly through the Pullman car window. Once he here is just another. It seems to him that more residents are turning to the hoe and rake this Spring for afternoon and evening diversion. He walked down one street in the city

a house appeared lacking a garden. On that street nearly every "man-about-the-house" was to be found in their gardens.

The post office lobby signs, de-by a surprisingly large number of callers. A watch yesterday proved they're not going unread.

Sports aren't going unheeded at the city's two junior high schools.
Take a trip around the buildings
any afternoon and it won't be nechear them. And for variety, the athletic program pursued could hardly be touched.

Over in the direction of Edensburg the residents are only hoping that something might soon expedite the

Diary May Play Important Part In Miami Trial

Diary Kept By Captain Lancaster Shows Love For Mrs. Keith-Miller

WAS JEALOUS OF
YOUNG WRITER

(International News Service)
MIAMI, Fla., May 4.—The diary of Captain W. N. Lancaster, aviator charged with the murder of Kathleen Clarke, young writer, which authorities pored over today, revealed a passionate love for Mrs. J.
M. Keith-Miller, famous Australian aviatrix.

Clarke was also infatuated with the woman flyer and was to have married her, authorities said.

Lancaster's diary may play an important part in the murder trial.
It was written during Lancaster's trip to the west coast just before he returned here, a day before Clarke was found dead in the house where the trio in the love triangle were living.

The fly leaf of the diary contains a key to scenes showing the "Chubbie" he frequently mentions.
It is Mrs. Keith-Miller, and "Russell" is J. F. Russell, now under indictment in Key West on a charge of smuggling aliens.

Following are excerpts from the diary:

March 31, Nogales, Ariz.—No news from Chubbie. The little girl: I should not think of her so much. She doesn't deserve it.
Hell!

April 1, Los Angeles—Would give anything for news of her.

April 2, Los Angeles—Russell shows me two of Mrs. Russell's letters. One says: "Chubbie and Clarke came around tonight. I really think now that Clarke has gained Chubbie's affections and Bill lost them."

The other letter said: "Was around at Chubbie's tonight. She and Clarke got all ginned up together."

Growing Demand In Honolulu For Pardon Will Be

HONOLULU, T. H., May 4.—Mounting sentiment in favor of a pardon for the four Americans convicted of the "honor slaying" of Joseph Kahahawai today caused Gov. Lawrence Judd to call a conference with Attorney General Harry Hewitt, presumably to seek legal advice.

To incessant demands from white civic leaders of Honolulu has been added mainland pressure, including, it was reported, a radiophone call from Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur in Washington, D. C., to Judd.

Pressure Exerted

According to one rumor, Secretary
Wilbur told Judd he must pardon
Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and the two enlisted sailors or resign his post.

"When this case formally comes before me—if it ever does—then will be the time for me to comment on it," Judd announced.

"I would like to make it clear that it is still in the hands of the courts, with sentence on the manslaughter
charges to be passed on Friday morning."

The growing demand in Honolulu for a pardon will be expressed tonight in an open air mass meeting to be held by the Citizens' Organization for Good Government.

Verdict Awarded In Hicks Damage Case

Hazel Hicks $364.75, Ver-

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The campaign for drastic reduction of federal expenditures was at a standstill today as the battered "National Economy Program" of the house was reported to the senate.

The house in an uprising against its leaders had riddled the $200,- 000,000 economy program. As passed last night, the bill carried savings liberally estimated by the committee at $42,000,000.

In a desperate effort to preserve the essential features of the measure, house leaders forced nine roll-call votes but were defeated on every attempt.

Bitter Disappointment

Although bitterly disappointed in the wreck of the program, house experts in fiscal affairs predicted congress will have reduced the presidential budget estimates more than $200,000,000 when the major bills are passed.

A similar breakdown faced the Senate plan of reducing all house appropriation bills by 10 per cent.

When the tax bill passed the house, proposed economies totaling $200,000,000 were estimated to make the bill a budget-balancing measure. Leaders had hoped to make possible a reduction of the tax bill
by further savings.

GRAND JURY INDICTS GRAY

Samuel C. Gray, 23, Negro, Han-

State Highway patrolmen several weeks ago and found to have stolen
the car he was driving, at Gary,

States grand jury, at Pittsburgh, on a charge of violating the motor vehicle act.

The victims were Gerald Murr months. The mother used stockings to strangle the youngsters and then tried to hang herself with a piece of wire. She was cut down,

many close contests for committee

LAKE-OHIO RIVER CANAL BEFORE ENGINEERS

Railroad Makes Canal Protest

Pennsylvania R. R. Enters Opposition To Mahoning-Shenango
Route

U. S. ENGINEERS SUPPORT ROUTE
Backers Of Canal Project Present Arguments For Building Canal

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 4.—The proposed Lake Erie-Ohio River Canal, which would join numerous Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio cities directly with the Great Lakes, today occupied the attention of U. S. army engineers.

The Mahoning-Shenango route, supported by Theodore Brent of the Lake Erie and Ohio Canal Board of Pennsylvania, met opposition from representatives of the Pennsylvania railroad. After hearing their protests, the engineers granted the railroad officials time to file briefs.

These, it was expected, will be considered when proponents of other routes file reports in the fall.

Plan 101 Mile Canal

The plan supported by Brent was the construction of 101 miles of canal from the mouth of the Beaver river to Ashtabula, O. The proposed depth was 14 feet with 140 feet in width, which was believed capable of providing for any traffic desirous of passing through the route.

Brent estimated the cost at from $87,000,000 to $127,000,000, the exact amount depending on the type of lock that would be constructed.

This route, Brent said, would not only benefit Pennsylvania steel mills, but also the coal operators in West Virginia, Eastern Ohio and Pennsylvania. The cost of transporting coal to Great Lakes ports would be reduced considerably and in return steel mills would obtain lower rates on iron ore from the West.

At the prevailing rail rate, Brent estimated the proposed waterway would save approximately $22,000,000 annually on coal, iron ore, and lime rock.

Of Inestimable Benefit

T. J. Bray, an executive of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, referred to the proposed canal as one from which all cities on the route will reap "inestimable benefit."

One route, recommended by Col. Robert I. Randolph of Chicago, goes through Niles, O., but misses Warren by two miles. In reference to this, David Warneck, a representative of the Warren Chamber of Commerce, endorsed the route but suggested it be extended to his city.

Warren's contribution of 3,000,000 additional tons of traffic would compensate the change, he explained.

John G. Cooper, Congressman of Youngstown, and Lachlan MacLeay, Vice-President of the Mississippi Valley Association, favored the Ash-tabula-Pittsburgh route as the most favorable.

BOY HIT BY AUTO

Five-year-old Raymond Lally, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Lally, Niles, O., residents, is confined to the Warren, O., hospital with a fractured skull injury, sustained when he was struck by an auto in that city last night. Mr. Lally is the Pennsylvania railroad's yardmaster at Niles.

Many local folks are alarmed lest yesterday morning's frost may have damaged early vegetables and fruit. However, the records show that on May 1 of last year, the temperature dropped down to 25 degrees when there was a heavy frost. This was two degrees colder than Monday morning, and we had one of the most bountiful fruit crops in history last year. Some of the more tender vegetables might have been harmed, but it is believed that the fruit crop was not harmed much.

Councilmen are right in seeking to discover the legal status of firemen who are injured in fighting fires outside the city of New Castle. The opinion of the city solicitor, when filed, should be used as a basis for an amicable agreement between the city and the surrounding suburban territory that is thickly settled. New Castle firemen are responding to many calls from outside the city limits, and while citizens of New Castle, who support the fire departments, have no objection to aid being rendered, there should be an agreement whereby these suburban districts will at least meet the cost of any such trips.

CAPONE ENROUTE TO ATLANTA PRISON TO START SENTENCE

turned to Victor Morici to whose wrist he was manacled and bitterly remarked:

"A bum rap—just a bum rap." Morici was enroute to Tampa, Fla., to face automobile theft and transportation charges.

Manacles Removed

A few hours after the dismal journey began, the manacles were removed and the gangster was locked in a drawing room for the night. Under the watchful eyes of guards, Capone retired, but was unable to sleep for some time.

Under circumstances disclosed in confidence only to newspapermen, the gang chieftain was taken out of his Cook county jail cell last night and rushed to the Dearborn street station. Marshal H. C. W. Laubenthal supervised the transferral.

Despite the secrecy adopted by officials as a means of thwarting any possible attempts to find the prisoner, a large throng gathered hastily on the station platform when the rumor spread that Capone was about to begin his trip to prison.

Transfer Well Guarded

Nine police cars, containing officers, newspapermen and newspapermen and motion picture photographers, accompanied Capone from the county jail to the station. The flares of the photographers illuminated the platform momentarily as the gangster was hurried into his car.

There were cries of "That's Al Capone" as the ever-growing crowd pressed forward to catch a glimpse of the departing gangster.

The train left at 11:30 p. m.

Not until it pulled out of the station did Capone and the general public know that his destination was Atlanta, not Leavenworth. Plans were suddenly changed when Marshal Laubenthal received from Washington late yesterday the crisp message:

"Take Capone to Atlanta. Cancel Leavenworth plans."

On the Republican ballot, President Hoover, unopposed, amassed a total "confidence vote" of 510,929.

The prohibition ticket, headed by H. Clay Needham, polled a negligible vote.

JUNIOR B. P. W. ELECTS OFFICERS

The regular meeting of the Junior Business and Professional Women's Club was held Tuesday evening at the Y. W. C. A., with a good number in attendance. The purpose of this session was to boost the convention to be held June 27-30 for the B. P. W. Clubs aboard the S. S. Tionesta, to which the local organization will send delegates.

The serving of dinner at 6 o'clock opened activities, and the tables were prettily arranged in a color scheme of blue and yellow, with the menu, place cards in the form of miniature boats, etc., being carried out in keeping with the "boat ride" idea which was cleverly arranged.

A business period followed, and plans were completed for the dance social event to be held Friday, May 13, at the Cathedral. Also, election of officers occurred with the following results: President, Elsie Stevenson; treasurer, Mrs. Kathryn Flynn and secretary, Mrs. Titus. Other items of interest were transacted at this time.

The feature entertainment, a contest in 500, was then in vogue, and lovely prizes for honors went to Mrs. Naomi Le Masters, Miss Henrietta Bishop and Miss Stevenson. Concluding play, the guests were ushered into the dining room where they were served a very delicious collation at a table beautifully appointed in tones of yellow and white. A silver bowl containing yellow jellies and pastries flanked by tall tapers graced the center. The hostess was assisted by her daughter Miss Dorothy Titus in serving.

In two weeks Miss Irene Perry on Cunningham avenue will receive club.

TUESDAY KENSINGTON GUESTS AT SNYDER'S

The residence of Dr. and Mrs. E. U. Snyder on Winter avenue was a bower of beauty Tuesday evening with its many floral decorations, making a cherry greeting for associates of the Tuesday kensington members when they, accompanied by their husbands who were special guests, assembled for a dinner party.

A sumptuous menu was served at 6:30 o'clock at tables beautifully appointed in the season's tones, by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Stan Treiser, Mrs. Eliza Round, Mrs. W. H. Williams and Mrs. George Lansdell, the committee. At conclusion of this feature, the guests were kept in an uproar of laughter by a program of stunts, contests and games provided by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Treiser. This brought a most enjoyable evening to a close. Plans for the next regular session will be announced at later date.

THOMAS-MILES NUPTIALS AT NOON

A pretty wedding was solemnized at high noon today when Miss Eleanor Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Thomas of Main street, became the bride of William Miles, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Hill, of Ellwood City.

The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Evan P. Thomas, Jr., brother of the bride and pastor of the Primitive Methodist church of Boone, Iowa, in the presence of the immediate families at the Thomas residence.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of tea-rose crepe with accessories to match, and she carried an arm bouquet of Tailsman roses. Miss Viola Pregener who acted as maid of honor, wore a frock of peach georgette and accessories to harmonize. Her arm cluster was of the Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. Thomas, brother of the bride and a student at Duquesne University, served as best man.

Following the congratulatory period, the guests were invited into the diningroom where a tastefully appointed wedding dinner was served. A large bouquet of Snapdragons formed the centerpiece and color tones of pink and white prevailed.

The bride was graduated from the local Senior high school with the class of 1930.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles left on a motor trip, their destination being unrevealed, and upon their return will reside at Ellwood City, where the groom is affiliated with the Empire concern.

GUILD DINNER SUCCESSFUL EVENT

Places were arranged for more than two hundred Tuesday evening when the members of the Guild of Epworth church entertained the husbands and friends at a tureen dinner in the church dining room. Spring flowers were effectively used as centerpieces on the long tables.

The Court street unit was responsible for the music through the dinner hour and this was furnished by a quartet, Don Huffman, Don Potter, Jack Schweinsberg and Dick Rentz.

The Winter avenue unit was in charge of the pep singing, which was led by Don Potter.

At the conclusion of a delicious menu the various units of the Guild presented the program of entertainment, which began with a period of old time songs by this group.

The Harrison street unit presented Jean Louise Wright in two piano numbers and Miss Lavina McConahey in a reading; The Marshall avenue unit gave a playlet, "Big Business," which provoked a lot of mirth; The Chestnut street unit was represented by little Lenore Ann Pyle, who gave a vocal number, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Anna Moore Pyle; The Crawford avenue unit offered "Grandma" Rowland, who told of her experiences with her twenty one grandchildren, and Miss Lillian Andrews in a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Pyle; The Superior street unit's offering was humorous, being a play, "Elixir of Life"; The Adams street unit had a violin solo, given by Robert Curry, accompanied by his sister, Eleanor Curry; The Williams street unit also had a playlet, "Born Thirty Years Too Soon" which was well received.

The Lincoln avenue Unit presented Evelyn McMillen, who played the piano; the Wilmington avenue unit was represented by a piano number by Mrs. Charlotte Emery Taylor and the Fairfield avenue unit gave a sketch, "Secret Five".

The treasurer of the executive board, Mrs. R. M. Nevel, gave a report of the finances of the Guild and Claude McMichael, financial secretary of the building fund, gave a report of the progress of this part of the church program.

Mrs. Lillian Foster then spoke lauding Mrs. J. F. Rentz, president of the Guild, for the splendid services of the past year. She has given unstintingly of her time and energy in putting the guild over the past year.

The program closed with Mrs. J. F. Rentz, president of the Guild responding to Mrs. Porter and urging the guild members to carry on for the coming year.

AFTER THE DEPRESSION?

THE present scarcity seems like a good time to get worried about the chance that continued mechanization of industry will give workers more leisure time than they know how to use. But depressions never last forever, and sooner or later we must face the implications of the fact that the world's work can be done in less time than formerly.

Numerous economic and industrial leaders have pointed out that the unemployment problem will not be solved even when industry recovers, one of these recently expressing his opinion in this way:

"Many factories will not employ a man past 45. Shelling the aged means an old-age pension system. Periodic unemployment means unemployment insurance, or doles, or something worse."

It's not a pretty picture, but it does indicate pretty clearly that if we go on in the future as we have in the past, the men for whom industry has "no room" must be provided for somehow or other.

But the word "dole" is one which doesn't, somehow, fit in with the American philosophy, even though something close to approximating it has been already given out by federal and state and county governments. All of the things that have been said about it are true. England provides thousands of living examples showing how the dole saps manhood and self-reliance. Certainly the system there has been a great burden upon the entire country and of no benefit to the persons who receive the dole, except to provide for them a mere existence and breed in them an attitude of indifference. The dole system has made countless thousands of able-bodied men wards of the nation, and a lot of them do not care whether they ever go to work again.

Nevertheless, our industrial system will have to be arranged to provide steady work for all honest, capable and reliable workers, if we wish to avoid some such system, call it what you will. Present conditions, of course, are abnormal. But when normal times do return, that fact must be borne in mind. We've got to look ahead and plan methods of coping with the unemployment problem, for it's not merely a by-product of hard times alone.

STYLES IN CURVES

New Castle's feminine contingent shows no desire to follow the London trend toward rotundity. One gathers, however, that the appearance of feminine Londoners is decidedly an issue in that city. Plumpness has there become so general, not to say pronounced, that a return to prominence of the "county families" may be suspected.

Solid folk, they are, and the backbone of old England's civilization, and their daughters differ from the little city flappers as Yorkshire pudding does from the daintiest French pastry. If they set the tone for the London season, no wonder that the social scene has lost its flat appearance and is developing perspective.

This possibility, however, justifies Lawrence county lasses in asking for exact information before they undertake to expand. The county girls of England do not cultivate plumpness. When present, it is inherent and under merely natural control. American girls, however, exercise a mysterious personal power over their corporeal substance. They have thus far triumphed, but no one can tell what will happen if they allow it a measure of freedom. A minor constitutional amendment might be all right, but there is always a chance of ending up with some other system.

Whether Broadway sets the vogue in figures for Miss America is about to be demonstrated. The girl with a tendency toward plumpness and decided curves is supplanting the slender miss in the chorus. Will the girls on the other side of the footlights imitate the new stage beauties? The farmers who have grown poor of purse while dieting femininity have grown lean and willowy send up a prayer.

TO ISSUE WASHINGTON QUARTERS

Two considerations prompted the decision of the government at Washington to mint a new quarter dollar. One of the recent issues did not wear well, and a coin commemorating the bicentennial of the birth of George Washington is deemed desirable.

There is a law providing that no change in the design or die of any coin shall be made oftener than once in 25 years, and yet 15 special coins have been issued in the last decade.

Issuing a new coin is not a simple matter. A design must be executed and approved. The composition of the alloy requires extreme care and is carefully superintended by the assayer. And the actual minting necessitates several operations.

The first coin of the republic was minted by John Harper, a maker of saws. It was a copper penny bearing a crude likeness of Washington in military dress and an eagle with outstretched wings, claws grasping an olive branch and 18 arrows and holding in its beak a ribbon inscribed "Unum E Pluribus." Half dimes followed in 1792.

Prior to that time American money was a conglomeration of coins and currency from the foreign lands with which the colonies traded. Cecil Calvert, the second Lord Baltimore, tried to establish a colonial currency in 1655 but the colonists would not accept his home-made coins.

In contrast to this early suspicion of new money will be the avidity with which the American people will grab up the new Washington quarters.

Come Loaf in the Sun
Listen to a Bird
Be Lazy!

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Find a sunny corner in the yard. Make yourself comfortable. Sit, look, loaf, dream, invite your soul, take it easy. Have a sun bath. Be yourself.

Last night in this garden a fierce black spider leapt upon an earthworm and dragged the dangling thing away to his den. See that little round leaf on the ground. It's the door of a trap-door spider's home. It's hinged on one side. Imagine an insect being able to do a thing like that. The bees are busy around the eat mint. It's a funny thing about bees. They lose their darts when they sting you. Wasps can sting and sting and keep their weapons. Bees die when they sting, wasps don't; and yet, bees make honey, and wasps don't. That doesn't seem right.

It's warm here in the sun. You feel fine. No room for pessimism left. But some people like to be pessimists. It makes them feel superior. Man killed himself the other day because his income had been reduced to only a few hundred dollars a month. Imagine that! What did he live on, anyway? Not on common good food, at any rate. He lived on pride and prestige and flattery. Such indigestible foods as those.

Once I didn't like turnips, now I like them. Once, when I was a kid, I ate raw hamburger sandwiches. I couldn't do that now. We change. The griefs we once thought untenable are now bearable. We used to like very polite people; now we suspect 'em.

Those two brown birds in the green tree are quarreling. Birds are supposed to be happy, but those two are fighting fiercely. What about?

Why do people who love each other quarrel? Is it an instinct for violent variety? Is their love the sweater afterwards?

And children fight and lie and scream and are hateful, but they grow up to be decent sorts, just the same.

Nothing's better than sitting under this tree. Trees seem to know things they never tell us. They aren't just enormous vegetables.

Trees make poets of people. Nearly everybody's a poet deep inside. Some poets can think of the beautiful words, but others just have the nice, brave, beautiful ideas.

It certainly is nice, sitting here in the sun. Come on over, Cat, and we'll be lazy together.

GAMES AND GAMBLING

If you cannot play a game of any kind without having something more than mere victory at stake, you are not getting the sport you should from your recreation.

Many men do not wish to wager anything on a contest but enter in a spirit of friendly rivalry.

When they do play for stakes it is to make themselves agreeable.

They don't want to be a wet blanket to others who enjoy gambling.

There are certain games, poker, for instance, in which some sort of a stake is necessary to make it interesting.

Those who engage in it look upon it as a gambling proposition and take part in it for that very purpose.

But in gambling games there is nearly always one or more who break over the set limit to such an extent that the game loses its friendly spirit.

When a man is risking money that he can ill afford to lose he wants to win it back irrespective of the wishes of those who play with him.

But there are contests in which the victory of winning provides all the desired kick and side bets only detract from its enjoyment.

Schwab's Remarks Inspire Analysis Of Actual Values

Statement As To Lack Of Wealth Is Questioned, But His Advice That Hard Work Means Renewed Prosperity Is Received With Favorable Comment

"There are no rich men in America today," says Charles M. Schwab, but the country, analyzing his views, is inclined to believe that genuine values still exist, despite changes in the standing of securities. The Schwab prescription of hard work is endorsed, while on theory which is advanced is that future prosperity will have a sounder basis than that of a few years ago.

The steel capitalist is quoted by the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION as stating, "I am still optimistic," and that paper voices the opinion: "We are inclined to share this courageous and altogether reasonable view, not only of the steel business, but of other business. We would make no prophecy about how soon profits and prices may rise to what seem familiar levels, reflecting prosperity as heretofore measured. But it is unreasonable to believe that when steel production in the United States gets down to less than a quarter of what it could be with existing plants the ratio to capacity is one which will prove of more than relatively brief duration. If experience means anything it has been shown times enough in the country's history that some booms and depressions follow one another, and by that simple logic the lower the percentage of production in the mills, the sooner we should expect them, by and large, to get new business and increase their operations. Extremes beget extremes."

"There may be a question," thinks the CHARLESTON (W. Va.) DAILY MAIL, "what extent the legislative measures enacted by congress may help the return of business in the United States—mainly whether what help is given will be of a permanent nature or merely temporary but deep down under the surface hidden far from the sight of men are those mysterious causes at work which later will reveal themselves. For in cases of this kind Nature works also. All over the world millions of men of all races and cultures and capacities are busily at work on their own personal or national devices and often working at cross-purposes. These wrinkles are eventually ironed out by Nature which works day and night, making no noise, never resting and never quiting."

"Common sense tells us that genuine values are not destroyed, though the confusion of the moment may obscure them," declares the NASHVILLE BANNER, and that paper presents the analysis: "There were stocks and warrants and things selling in 1928 and thereabouts for absurdly ridiculous prices. Many a man who bought then and held on is worth only a fraction of what he was worth three or four years ago on paper. Mr. Schwab seems to have been indulging himself in the rather interesting and altogether futile pastime of thinking of what he could have gotten if he had sold, which he did not. There is just as much wealth properly considered as there ever was. This country can and does produce the necessities and comforts of life in quality and quantity above anything the world ever knew before. Its paper won't assay near what it did and did not deserve to do but there is plenty of wealth. In other words, lots of stocks that sold away up in the hundreds never had any right or license to do so even if they are below value now in many instances."

"Two men were discussing a little feminine acquaintance of theirs who isn't in any immediate danger of a brain storm. 'Is she really as dizzy as people say?' asked one. 'Sure,' replied the other. 'She's so dumb that last week three ventriloquists wanted to rent her.' Yours truly, CALEB CORNTOSSEL"

M. Feuchtwanger Will Be Honored

Birthday Celebration And Dinner Will Be Held In Temple Israel Vesi-
try Room

AFFAIR SCHEDULED FOR NEXT SUNDAY

MARCUS FEUCHTWANGER

A dinner to honor Marcus Feuchtwanger will be sponsored by a joint committee of the various Jewish congregations of New Castle, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Norman Ehrlich, president of the Temple Israel Sisterhood, and will be given Sunday evening, May 8, on the occasion of his seventieth birthday.

The question is often asked: "Which is better, to live long or to live fully?" Which counts most, the number of years one lived, or the things one accomplishes during the years of one's life? Which is of more value to the world—eighty barren years, devoid of any worthwhile accomplishment, or fifty years full of fruitful activity and service in behalf of one's fellow-men?

Whatever the answer may be to these questions, each answer depending on the attitude toward and outlook upon life of the person giving it, all will agree that that man is indeed fortunate who has been blessed with a combination of the two—a long life devoted to the service of those in need.

It is to honor such a man that the entire community of New Castle, Pa., will dedicate the evening of Sunday, May 8th. On that evening, Jew and non-Jew will gather in the vestry rooms of Temple Israel, Highland and Moody avenues. Representatives of the organizations, and guests from many distant communities, will gather to offer a tribute of love and esteem to one who for almost thirty-five years has taken a leading part in every worthwhile movement in behalf of the suffering, the poor, the sick, those who are afflicted in body or soul.

To enumerate the various organizations with which Marcus Feuchtwanger has worked and to which he has given his unstinted personal and financial co-operation—local, national, international—Jewish and non-Jewish—would indeed be a great task. One can but touch upon the few which he himself considers to be of the greatest importance and value—in alleviating suffering, in upholding the dignity of the Jewish people, and in promoting goodwill between the various religious elements in the community.

President of Temple Israel of New Castle, since it was founded in 1926.

President of the Margaret L. Henry Home for Children of New Castle.

Member of the Mayor's Relief Committee of New Castle.

Member of the B'nai B'rith for forty-four years.

Past President of Sar Shalom Lodge, B'nai B'rith, Pittsburgh; Charter member of New Castle Lodge No. 609, B'nai B'rith, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year, and its President for several terms.

Past President of District Grand Lodge No. 3, B'nai B'rith, which comprises the States of Delaware, New Jersey, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Vice President of the Board of Directors and Member of the Board of Governors of the B'nai B'rith Home for Children, Erie, Pa.

Director, National Jewish Hospital for Consumptives, Denver, Colo.

Member of the National Board of the Joint Distribution Committee, New York, N. Y.

Vice-Chairman of the Washington Bicentennial Commission for Lawrence County, Pa.

Rabbi Isidore E. Rosenthal of Lancaster, Pa., a graduate of the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, Ohio, class of 1894, and Mr. Feuchtwanger's life-long friend and co-worker, will be the main speaker of the evening.

Short addresses will also be made by Mayor Charles B. Mayne of New Castle, State Assemblyman Barton Richards, and many other leaders in the civic, philanthropic and religious life of the community.

The committee on arrangements includes: Mrs. Norman Ehrlich, Mrs. A. Gonick, William Goldblatt, Dr. and Mrs. E. Kaplan, B. Kline, Mrs. H. Klivans, L. Kohn, J. F. Perlman, L. Sandler, Mrs. M. Schoenberger, and A. Samuels.

HAT BUCKLES

A sports hat of felt with a rather wide brim is trimmed very simply with three wooden buckles placed on the front of the crown. These buckles pretend to hold certain ornamental felt points in place, but their highest function is to impart an outdoor and thoroughly sports flavor to the headgear.

In the arrest of Clinton B. Turner and George Boggs of near Rose Point, County Detective H. Martin Lee believes he may have solved the mystery of the camp robberies that occurred last summer and late in the fall. In Turner's home was found Tuesday a huge quantity of clothing, bedding, kitchen utensils, lamps and other camp equipment.

Since last summer, Mr. Lee has been hunting down some lead to the robbery of the High School Camp, the Y. M. C. A. Camp, the camp of Senator George T. Wein-gartner and others. He finally got enough evidence to warrant issuing a search warrant and this he did Tuesday afternoon. With Assistant County Detective B. J. Rocks, and Constables Ellison, O'Brien and Fair, Lee went to the home of Turner and entered. Not only did he find a quantity of camp equipment but also a lot of beer and wine.

Ralph Gardner, Faculty Manager of New Castle High School athletics identified a hot plate, some sweat-ers and bedding. These are in the office of Alderman William E. Marshall. An attempt will be made to identify other material this afternoon.

Boggs insists that he is innocent of any part in the robberies and Turner admits nothing. Both of them are in the county jail awaiting a hearing before Alderman Marshall.

The men are charged with breaking and entering, robbery, and possession of liquor.

Classes Plant Trees In Tuesday's College Celebration

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 4.—Westminster college observed Arbor Day on the campus yesterday afternoon at 2:30 when five trees were planted; one by each of the four college classes and one in honor of T. J. Gillespie, Pittsburgh, eldest member of the board of trustees.

The Arbor Day celebration, changed due to a change in the college schedule and to weather conditions, took place on the south campus near Robert Audley Browne Hall.

The student body gathered on the walks in front of Browne Hall, and the observance was started with the singing of "America," with Professor Alan B. Davis directing the singing.

Louis Hazen, New Castle, president of the senior class; and Blodwen Davis, New Castle, secretary of the class, planted the first tree as a memorial to the class of 1932. The junior class tree was planted by Gerald Newton, New Wilmington, president; and Annabel Stevenson, Bellevue, secretary.

Lakewood Cottage Pythian Sisters

Will Entertain

The Rae Muirhead cottage, property of the New Castle Business and Professional Women's Club, and located at Lakewood, will be open for use of the members in the near future, according to Miss Helen Hinkson, chairman of the camp committee.

This cottage, located high on a hill overlooking the lake, was presented to the local club last year by Dr. Elizabeth McLaughry of New Wilmington, a member. It was formally opened in August, 1931, with a half hundred members present.

The annual spring picnic will take place at the cottage Monday, June 6, according to present plans.

Have Leading Roles In Senior Play Next Week

Frances Aiken Amil Lelenka

The members of the June graduating class at the senior high school are now making their final plans for the public performance of their class play. It is a hilarious comedy, Elliott Lester's "Take My Advice."

Amil Lelenka has graduated from his successes in minor roles of the various school plays of the past two years and now appears as a man in the person of Bud Weaver an engaging youth of the Booth Tarkington stamp. Bud's predicaments call forth a program of taking advice that seems to turn into a boomerang affecting everyone in the cast. Amil's spirit and sincerity and snap of manner make a delightful character out of his very young colleague suffering from a serious attack of puppy-love.

Frances Aiken, daughter of Mrs. Robert Aiken of Highland avenue, plays opposite Amil Lelenka as Marilla Scott. Marilla Scott is apparently only a charming and highly sophisticated cradle-snatcher, whose real character becomes evident only in the closing scene. She plays a desperate game that calls for perfect poise and self-confidence. Miss Aiken enters into the dramatic possibilities of the role and makes the most of them.

Rev. Joshua Tells Lions 'Great Men' Nation's Bulwark

"Greater Than All Resources," Croton Pastor Says; Vocalist Sings

That the basic hope of a nation for greatness lies more in the quality of great men she can produce than in the vastness of her resources, was the keynote point the Rev. Clifford S. Joshua, pastor of the Croton M. E. church, conveyed in a luncheon talk on "Facing the Facts" before the Lions club yesterday. The Lions met in a North Mill street home.

The address was a timely one, full of inspiration and eloquently delivered.

A Mother's Day note was sounded in the delightful vocal number sung by Mrs. Edith Bernard, director of the choir at the Croton church. It was entitled "Song My Mother Taught Me".

How Spine Curves And Significance

Dr. Clendening Tells Of Various Forms Of Curvature

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Curvature of the spine is a dreaded term. The condition was once supposed to lead to all sorts of disturbances of health.

But as a matter of fact, it is quite common in its minor forms.

The curves of curvature of the spine may be in one of three directions—backward, which is technically called "kyphosis"; forward, which is called "lordosis"; and sideways, which is called "scoliosis."

There are normal curves to the spine also, which if flattened out really constitute a disorder of posture. The normal spine, if looked at from the right side of the body, is in the shape of the letter S. The outward curve begins at the base of the neck and continues all through the spine of the chest region. This gradually merges into the inward curve or the lower spine.

These normal curves may be exaggerated, causing postural defects. In the case of the upper curve, round shoulders; in the case of the lower curve, pot belly.

The commonest form of abnormal curvature is scoliosis or curving from side to side. Viewed from behind in a normal person the tips of the vertebrae should be aligned one below the other. When such a straight line does not occur it is called scoliosis. It occurs in some degree in about 25 per cent of all people.

Simple cases of spinal curvature of moderate degree are usually the result of bad postural habits—such as sitting at a school desk in a cramped position—and are in most cases easily remedied by special exercises and correction of the faulty postural habits. They are of little real consequence to the health and are of importance largely on account of the awkward posture resulting.

The severe forms of spinal curvature are due to bone or muscle disease—rickets, infantile paralysis or congenital defects in structure. They do not result from faulty posture and cannot be treated by simple corrective exercises in posture. These are the cases which often require support with braces, etc.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

C. R.: "Is it true that starches and proteins should not be taken together in the same meal? If we have the three enzymes to digest proteins, fats and carbohydrates, why should we not use them all at the same meal? Is there any advantage to be gained in using only two at a time?"

ANSWER: There is no reason known to medical science why starches and proteins should not be eaten at the same time. In fact, it is almost impossible to arrange a meal or to obtain foods in which they are not both present. The human body is perfectly adapted to digest fats, carbohydrates and proteins all at the same time. Such ideas do a great deal of harm in preventing people from having a balanced diet and there is no foundation for believing in them.

Daniel John Writes Of Maccabee Home

Tells Interesting Happenings At That Place In Recent Weeks

Daniel John, former well known resident of this city, who has been located at the Maccabee Home at Chatham, Pa., for some time, writes The News most interestingly of happenings at that place in recent weeks.

His letter follows:—"Rev. J. S. Edmiston Turner, pastor of the Methodist church of Avondale, visited the Maccabee Home Sunday, April 24 and delivered an eloquent sermon to the guests. He was accompanied by Sir Knight William McClellan, who served the home as secretary for many years.

"Miss Mary McClellan with Professor Randall Shillen and his wife composed the choir for this occasion. It was much enjoyed by the guests, for whom it made the day brighter and happier.

"On Tuesday, April 26, the monthly review of the Maccabee Home Tent was held. Howard Sheehan, district manager, presented several applications and three new members were taken in. Richard Logan and Robert Allhouse furnished music for the evening. Solos were given by Miss Helen Brown and Daniel John. A violin solo was also given by George Pollard and recitations by Fred Cook and T. J. Nyland. Dancing was enjoyed. Lunch was served at a late hour."

Trapping Still Is Big
Industry In Kentucky

(International News Service)
RICHMOND, Ky., May 3.—Hunting and trapping animals for their furs, once Kentucky's leading industry, but believed by the average man one long since surrendered to the progress which has denuded the great hunting ground of its mighty forests, is far from being a thing of the dim past, at least in this section of the state.
A richmond firm which deals in furs bought direct from Kentucky trappers in two months a total of 27,847 hides. The major portion of these hides was exported to England. While skunk and opossum hides made up the bulk of the furs received here, there were many mink, grey fox, red fox, muskrat, weasel and raccoon skins among the lot and $16,584.02 was paid out to trappers for their winters' catch.

Tin Mill Garage Is Set On Fire

Small Damage Results From Blaze Discovered At Early Hour This Morning

An unsuccessful attempt was made to burn down the garage at the New Castle Works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company at 1:50 this morning.

Firemen arriving on the scene in response to an alarm from Box 32, found that someone had evidently placed a ball of waste on the end of a wire, and inserted it above the garage door. A hole was burned in the door and a beam above the door was partly burned away. Acting Assistant Chief R. B. Craig reported.

Firemen were called to the home of Fred Wilkes of 115 N. Shenango street at 7:50 last evening, by an alarm from Box 12. Soot was burning out in the chimney which was badly cracked, the smoke pouring out through the cracks and between the walls. Firemen tore some weatherboarding from the side of the house where the smoke was coming out, but could find no fire there.

Says Tables Have Turned Against Wets

Bishop William F. Anderson Says Prohibition Is Still Proper Method Of Control

REPRESENTS OPINION
OF BOARD OF BISHOPS

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 4.—The tables have been turned on the anti-prohibitionists in today's "serious crisis in the fight for a sober world" declared Bishop William F. Anderson of Boston, in the address of the general superintendents of the Methodist-Episcopal church before the quadrennial conference on Tuesday.

While repealists may feel their opinions are not being respected in certain states, they must not forget that the situation was precisely the other way round before the national prohibition law was passed, he pointed out.

And that law, the eighteenth amendment about which there is such a hue and cry these pre-presidential campaign days, still is the proper method for reducing the consumption of beverage alcohol, the Methodist bishops believe.

Order Of Things Reserved
"Prohibition has proved embarrassing in certain regions, where public opinion protests, just as in the previous order of things dry states doing their utmost to outlaw the liquor traffic had liquor imposed upon them against their will," Bishop Anderson said. "This dilemma is the crux of the opposition to the eighteenth amendment."

"A century ago the alcoholic traffic had every right of property, of free contract and police protection, and appeared to be forever secure. Today it is hunted outlaw bearing the mark of Cain."

As a possible substitute for national prohibition nothing has been suggested but local option, the bishop stated. His report was the considered judgement of the whole board of 38 bishops.

"Leave it to the communities that want the traffic back to solve the problem for all of us?" he cried. "Leave it to the sidewalkers of New York and the slum of Chicago! A form of state control is now proposed which is said to be different. It is presented to possess all sorts of political magic. The picture of the stars and stripes flouting over brewery, distillery and retail houses is utterly repugnant to all right feeling and extremely offensive to patriotic sentiment. It shall never be."

The bishop reminded his large audience—550 men and women from every state of the union and forty foreign fields—that alcohol, poverty, crime, ill children, disease and corrupt politics were "all of a piece" and that the passage of the prohibition law made the connection "less obvious."

A learned savant says nothing but psychology will prevent divorces. However, well cooked meals and a parting kiss in the morning all helps.—The Salt Lake City Desert News.

Two Hearts in Harmony

Yessir, this is love's old sweet song, sung by two people who can really sing. They are Gladys Swarthout, leading mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company and its youngest star, and Frank Chapman, Jr., operatic baritone, whom the cameraman ran to earth in their honeymoon nest at New York. The singers were secretly married at Tenafly, N. J., recently and the news has just leaked out. Both were previously married. Miss Swarthout to the late Harry Kern of Chicago, and Chapman to Elizabeth Cobb, only daughter of Irvin Cobb, the novelist.

"Divide and rule" may be a good slogan for the British, but it doesn't work for the Democrat.

So at last the increased tax burden is placed on somebody who can't afford a lobbyist.

FASCISTS DRAFT JOBLESS CITY MEN FOR FARMING JOBS

(International News Service)
MILAN, Italy, May 4.—T he Milan Federal Fascist Headquarters, which has been entrusted with the entire task of helping workless men and women, now states that the worst period of unemployment is past.

This is owing to the fact that, even in the industrial north, Italy is still mainly a farming country and as work is now beginning in the fields, thousands of men are being drafted from his city and from other cities in Piedmont and Lombardy to work on farms. They have no choice about going. If they are declared fit and able bodied by the medical board employed by Consul Brusa, Federal Head of the Fascio in Lombardy, they are drafted to farms which have registered a need for hands.

"No work, no subsidy," is the Fascist motto. Everybody who is able must work.

The men are leaving their families behind and when working in large gangs, have their meals together, which are cooked by a man appointed for that purpose. Food is bought at the lowest market price and each man pays the same fixed sum. He saves money this way and sends as much as he can home to his family.

This system, which is only possible under a regime where every man is disciplined by the local Fascist organizations, has kept unemployed figures in Italy to a little over a million in a total population of over 42 millions.

Education seems to be the solution of everything except crime, hard times, lawlessness and gullibility. The Schenectady Gazette.

Mrs. Porter Is Again Named

Presbyterian Re-elects Efficient Head Of Organization On Tuesday

DAY'S PROGRAM MOST IMPRESSIVE

The fifty seventh annual meeting of the Shenango Woman's Presbyterian society, which includes members from twenty nine Presbyterian churches of the district, went into history Tuesday as the women assembled in the Central Presbyterian church, with Mrs. E. C. Parker of New Castle-Ellwood road, as the presiding officer.

After the morning session lunch was served in the dining room of the church and during this hour the women became acquainted with the speakers of the day.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session began at 1:30 with Mrs. Harrison Davidson leading in the singing of the theme hymn, "Christ In Us" after which Mrs. James Duguid of New York city conducted the worship period and Mrs. Earl Guy called the roll at which time every church of the district was represented.

"That They Might Have Life" was the theme of the afternoon talks and Mrs. William Ferver, Mercer, spoke on "We Pray". Mrs. J. B. Cutler, Sharpsville and Mrs. W. J. Conway, New Wilmington, spoke on "We Work" giving the accomplishments of the overseas and national sewing circles. "We Go or Send Our Best" was discussed by Mrs. W. R. Armstrong, Volant, Mrs. R. R. Throop, Bessemer and Mrs. H. M. Fiscus, Sharon, and "We Give" by Mrs. Frank Woods, New Castle.

Miss Ruth Swanson, a missionary to the Philippine Island, dressed in the native costume of that place, gave a most inspiring talk on the work in that country.

Mrs. James Duguid, a national worker, spoke on "The Living Christ in the World Today" and urged the women to go forward in their missionary work.

Mrs. A. B. Fankouser, chairman of the nominating committee, reported that Mrs. E. C. Porter, Ellwood City, had again been selected as president; Mrs. Benjamin Jenkins, New Castle, was again named vice president; Mrs. A. A. Young, West Middlesex, assistant corresponding secretary and Mrs. O. E. Rhodes, New Castle, secretary of literature.

These were the only officers whose terms expired at this time.

Mrs. Howard Magill, field secretary, Mrs. R. Throop and Mrs. W. R. Armstrong were named as delegates to attend the young people's conference in Chambersburg in June.

The afternoon session closed with the installation of the officers.

Evening Session.

A delicious banquet was served at 6 o'clock in the dining room of the First Methodist church, with Mrs. R. R. Throop of Bessemer presiding. Mrs. George Herbert acted as song leader; reports of the group secretaries of the young people's societies were given and there were greetings brought by the various visitors.

The evening session of the meeting was called to order at 7:30, with Miss Mary Nord leading the devotional period and special music was a feature of the opening hour.

Mrs. W. R. Armstrong presented the banner to the Mahoning Presbyterian church for the best missionary work during the past year.

Mrs. F. R. Woods, treasurer, called the roll and the groups of young officers responded.

Miss Martha Skilak, the Alaskan Indian Girl, brought a message from the North, which was of great interest to the assembly.

Mrs. James Duguid then spoke on "Battleships, Bandits, Bibles" and her talk was most graciously received.

Dr. Charles B. Wingerd, pastor of the host church, pronounced the benediction.

Hundred Attend Dinner At Church

Dinner Is Followed By Regular Meeting Of Methodist Missionary Society

One hundred guests met for dinner in the Methodist church dining room Tuesday evening. The dinner was in charge of the Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the church, the members of whom had their regular monthly meeting following.

After devotionals led by Mrs. DeReamer the president of the society, Mrs. John Conn appointed Mrs. Myrtle Miller, Mrs. F. F. Sittig and Mrs. Frank Gibson as nominating committee for the election of new officers.

The unanimous vote of the members made the decision to continue the joint meetings of the Home and Foreign societies for another year. This practice was started a year ago and has worked out quite satisfactorily.

Over twenty dollars was turned in from the mite box opening of the Home Society. The Foreign society will have its mite box opening at the June meeting.

Mrs. W. H. Downing, Mrs. Omar Mauck and Mrs. John Conn expect to attend the Home Missionary Society convention at Grove City May 10 and 11. Others from here may also attend.

Hostesses last night were Mrs. W. J. Taylor and her committee. Instead of serving refreshments they gave the money to the treasury.

Teachers Elected At School Board Meeting Tuesday

Ellwood School System Will Be Decreased By 16 Teachers Next Year

ABOLISH TWO OTHER DEPARTMENTS HERE

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4.—Slight changes over their previous report were made by the Education Committee of the School Board, in their recommendations of the election of teachers, at an adjourned meeting in the Lincoln school. Mr. DeLong will take office on July 1, when Prof. Smith's resignation becomes effective.

Prof. DeLong was born in Perry county, near Zanesville, O., of a family of school teachers. His high school alma mater was in Dresden, O., from where he went to Ohio Wesleyan University and graduated with a Bachelor's degree. He took post-graduate work at Ohio State University and received his Master's degree. While here he wrote the state scholarship examination in chemistry which was later formally adopted by the state department. Also his bulletin on the minimum requirements for recognized laboratory work in chemistry, was also accepted by the state of Ohio.

Upon leaving Ohio State Universi-

The other changes included the abolition of the Foreign Home Classes and the dental hygienist. As a matter of immediate economy the board was in favor of the former. This will be continued again when conditions are better, the members of the board stated. Mrs. Florence Patton Young had been conducting the home classes composed of foreign born mothers for several years. Many illiterate persons were taught to read and write and later obtained citizenship papers as a result of the work of Mrs. Young.

There was much debate as to the abolition of the department of the dental hygienist. Dr. H. E. Helling stated that it was unfair to the children of the community as well as the citizens. The Kiwanis Club of this city had gone to some trouble to donate the necessary equipment for this department. There was no expense connected with this, with the exception of the dental hygienist's salary. Dr. Helling was high in praise of the work done in this department which was aided to preserve the health of the community to an immeasurable degree. With assistance from the medical department defects in children were detected at the earliest time and the parents were notified to correct them. H. W. Smith and H. M. Cresswell were also opposed to the abolition of this department.

The Ellwood City School system will have sixteen teachers less for next year than this year. Taking all principals, teachers, health instructors, etc., numbered 121 for this year. With the reduction of the health and art departments to half time which releases fourteen teachers and retrenchments in other departments, will bring the total number of principals and teachers to 105 for next year.

Eleven new teachers, who all have their homes in Ellwood City will be used in the school system next year. They are John A. King, Mary Reid, Lawrence Flinner, Michael J. Ferare, Frances W. Kellar, Eleanor Wilson, Sara Ruscalle, Mar Louise Davis, Berta Bouck, Irene McKim and Reba Dunn.

Those reflected are as follows:

Principals—J. Ellis Bell, Mildred Sanders, Mary B. Humphrey Ascha Jackson, and Hilma Dahl. Teachers: Margaret Carey, Helen McNutt, Abigail Cresswell, Althea Wilson, Earla Harriger, Ralph Shaffer, Marie Christley, Harold Caplan, Todd Lloyd, Helen Wilson, Marjorie Davidson, Malcolm Wilson, Myrna Chambers, Helen Cooper, John M. VAUGHN R. DeLONG TO HEAD LOCAL SCHOOLS

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—Out of a group of fifteen applicants, Prof. Vaughn R. DeLong of this city and principal of the Hartman and North Side schools, was elected by unanimous vote of the Board of Education to succeed Prof. W. Ray Smith, resigned, as superintendent of the Ellwood City schools. This action was taken at an adjourned meeting of the board Tuesday evening in the Lincoln school. Mr. DeLong will take office on July 1, when Prof. Smith's resignation becomes effective.

Prof. DeLong was born in Perry county, near Zanesville, O., of a family of school teachers. His high school alma mater was in Dresden, O., from where he went to Ohio Wesleyan University and graduated with a Bachelor's degree. He took post-graduate work at Ohio State University and received his Master's degree. While here he wrote the state scholarship examination in chemistry which was later formally adopted by the state department. Also his bulletin on the minimum requirements for recognized laboratory work in chemistry, was also accepted by the state of Ohio.

Upon leaving Ohio State Universi-

city he immediately took up teaching in a high school at Ashland, Kentucky, where he was also principal of the high school's summer session. During his stay there Mr. DeLong was manager of athletics.

Mr. DeLong came to Ellwood City three years ago as principal of the North Side and Hartman schools, as successor to Prof. A. K. Thompson, deceased. Mr. DeLong's work here has been good.

Prof. DeLong is a man of no mean literary ability. His articles appear regularly in school magazines. His recent article, "The Teaching of High School Science," in the "Kentucky School Journal," made quite an impression upon the public. An article of more interest to local people will appear in this month's issue of the "Platoon School Magazine." It is entitled, "Directed Study in History," and deals with the work done in the elementary grades of the Ellwood City schools.

Since coming here Prof. DeLong, his wife and two children have made their home on Sixth street.

Upon taking office in July Prof. DeLong will probably be the young superintendent of schools in the state. He is 29.

School Board To Refuse To Take Over Tennis Courts

Will Endeavor To Make Council Stick To 50-50 Proposition

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—A request from the Borough Council of Ellwood City that the School Board take over the Municipal tennis courts this year was not very agreeable to the board members at a meeting last night in the Lincoln school, and in all probability the request will be turned down.

Dr. H. E. Helling pointed out that when the last school board granted the land on the athletic field to build the courts, an agreement was made that expenses for upkeep would be divided by the borough and the school board. Despite the fact that necessary repairs and purchase of equipment would cost about ten dollars, and students could look after the upkeep during school, Dr. Helling urged that the proper committee be instructed to insist that council keep to their agreement. The matter was left in the hands of the athletic committee for settlement.

The School directors voted to participate in the annual Memorial Day celebration here, upon acting on a communication from the Memorial Day committee. Also all bills were ordered to be paid at this time.

Teacher Sends Letter To Board

Says Board Should State Why Teachers Are Being Dropped

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—In a communication to the Board of Education Tuesday evening, a teacher of the local high school opposed an action of the board a week ago in the matter of electing teachers. The letter is as follows:

Ellwood City, Penna.
May 3, 1932.
Members of the Board of Education, Gentlemen:

We hereby submit a report of the accounts of the Ellwood City School District covering the period June 30, 1931 to February 29, 1932.

This is a special report to verify the accounts of R. K. Mattocks who retired as Secretary of the Board, Feb. 29, 1932.

This report will be made a part of the regular annual audit at the close of the school year June 30, 1932.

This report shows a shortage in the accounts of R. K. Mattocks of $2960.78, this amount is surcharged to Mr. Mattocks, the items making up the shortage being shown in detail in the report.

Mr. Mattocks advised he was unable to balance his accounts, and he had a report prepared by Mr. Sowersby, a Certified Public Accountant. Two copies of Mr. Sowersby's report were turned over to the Auditor by Mr. Mattocks.

Much carelessness was evident in the conduct of the Secretary's office.

A large number of unopened letters addressed to Secretary Mattocks and Supt. Smith were found. A number of checks payable to the School District were discovered in the accumulation of papers.

Bills due or past due are:

Prior to July, 1931 $ 4398.61

July, Aug., and Sept. 1931 8364.93

Oct., Nov., Dec., 1931 7896.41

Jan., Feb., 1932 8895.97

Total $30055.92

A number of vouchers did not have invoices attached to support the payment, payments were also made of which no record was made in the minutes.

I suppose this means the confidential application sent to Superintendent Smith, I for one, indicated that I was applying at the same salary—which was equivalent to a $300 reduction in two years in as much as teachers were not given the stated salary increments. In addition I stated that I believed a teacher should be paid at least as much as a policeman.

These statements were intended to serve as a logical basis for discussion with the Superintendent rather than a direct bid for a job addressed to the members of the school board.

If teachers are forced into competitive bidding for positions, every place in the high school can be filled at $1200 a year. When the question was put directly to the teachers, I signed for a reduction of 10 per cent with the others.

It is not my purpose to criticize the Board of Education but if some teachers are not rehired—so open may be made for local people—then in all fairness, I believe the Board should go on record that these teachers are dropped in pursuance of a policy rather than for any known inability as teachers. To leave the contrary impression would be unfair to the teachers.

Respectfully,

PAUL V. LEYDA.

Students Make Unusual Record

Emerson White Compiles Record Of No Absences Or Tardiness For Six Years

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—All plans for the presentation of "Jonesy," the Senior class play, are rapidly coming to a head. The cast of eight boys and five girls have been holding daily practices under the supervision of Miss Kathleen Johns and John D. Preston, the coaches. These that have had an opportunity to "peak in" state that the play will be one of the best laugh provokers seen here. The cream of the Senior class has been selected to make this affair a success.

The play will be given on Friday evening in the Lincoln high school auditorium. The play is one of those snappy college types loaded with humor and due share of romance.

Records show that Emerson White a seventh grade pupil completed his sixth year of school without being absent or tardy. This is quite an achievement for this youth which shows that he not only mastered the three R's but also he used to advantage the health instruction he received. Thomas Boots has compiled a like record for five consecutive years and James Badger, Ray Miller, Julia Hooker and Ima Mae Badger all attended this entire year with a perfect record in attendance. Many of the other students were absent but a few sessions during the year.

Miss Jerry Turner invited the club to meet with her in two weeks at her home on Glen avenue.

Original Bridge Club Guests Of Mrs. C. M. Iseman

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—Miss Mabel Thompson received the members of the Original Bridge Club at her home on Crescent avenue yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Cleo Ferguson of Los Angeles, a sister of the hostess was a special guest at the affair.

Bridge at two tables was in vogue for the larger portion of the day at the conclusion of which Mrs. C. M. Morris received the high score favor. Lunch was served later by the hostess much to the pleasure of those present.

Mrs. Charles Stiner will entertain the club again in two weeks at her home on Third street.

Auditors Present Report To Board

Asserts There Is Shortage In Accounts Of Former School Board Secretary

RECOMMENDATIONS ARE PRESENTED

ELLWOOD CITY, May 4—The borough auditors after working on the school books for about six weeks with the assistance of C. F. McLaren of this city and a certified accountant made a report to the Board of Education at an adjourned meeting in the Lincoln school Tuesday evening.

After hearing the report the board voted that it be received and placed on file and that the matter be left in the hands of their attorney who will be instructed to take proper action with the surety company which is supposed to protect the stated shortage in accounts.

The report is as follows:

An Electric Refrigerator Benefits the Entire Family

It's hard to say who benefits the most when an electric refrigerator goes to work. It watches over the welfare of the baby—it guards the health of growing youngsters—keeping their milk and food fresh and wholesome—always safe. It makes the most delicious dishes—crimpy salads, frosty puddings, shivery jellies, icy drinks. And the thirst of it! All sorts of leafy vegetables are kept perked up—fresh and appetizing by adequate refrigeration. Little odds and ends left from yesterday's meals it transforms into miniature banquets for luncheon today. Adequate refrigeration prevents table butter from becoming cooking butter—it keeps cream from souring—it keeps fruit, meat, vegetables from being thrown away, wasted. Can you think of anything you could buy for any of the rooms of your home that would do so many wonderful things for every member of your entire household? Can you think of any other investment as thoroughly generous as this one which benefits not just you, but all those whose health and happiness mean so much to you?

Almost every case of apoplexy is aggravated by spells of indigestion, often accompanied by dizziness, especially after eating heavy foods or a too hearty meal.

If you are beginning to be troubled by slight digestive upsets—if you have pain or other distress after eating—if you suffer from sick headaches or dizzy spells—

Start taking a tablespoonful of Dare's Mentha Pepsi before meals.

By replenishing your scanty gastric juice and easing the load on a tired stomach, Dare's keeps your stomach from getting out of order.

No conscientious dealer would pretend for a moment that any stomach remedy could absolutely prevent apoplexy. But he will tell you that by keeping your digestion running along smoothly, you are doing much to lessen the danger of an attack.

Cards And A's Start To Win

St. Louis And Philadelphia Slow Starting This Year, Senators Take Lead

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK. May 4.—The St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics, on the eve of the first inter-sectional games, finally are beginning to revert to their pennant-winning form of 1931.

The Cardinals chalked up their fourth win in five starts yesterday as Dizzy Dean blanked Cincinnati, 9 to 0. Dizzy walked six men but managed to settle down when the plate was threatened. It was his first victory of the year.

The A's downed the Red Sox 6 to 1 yesterday behind the hurling of big George Earnshaw. The game was fairly close until the ninth inning when Al Simmons poled his fourth home run of the season with two men on base. Boston got only four hits.

Dodgers Win

While the Cards and A's played like champions, there were some weird ball games around the major league loop. Brooklyn scored eight runs in the ninth to gain a surprise victory over the New York Giants, 11 to 7, shellacking four New York pitchers in the final inning. Johnny Frederick, who collected five hits, set two of them, a Homer and a single, during the ninth-inning spree.

Equally weird was the Washington-Yankee encounter. Although Burke, Weaver and Crowder issued sixteen bases on balls between them, the Yanks lost to the Nats for the third time in a row 3 to 4. Old Sam Rice got a pinch-hit double in the eighth that sent two in two Washington runs, just enough to win.

Senators Increase Lead

The Senators increased their hold on first place in the American league, as Cleveland's nine-game winning streak was snapped when the Indians lost to the Browns, 11 to 8. "Spinach" Melillo of the Browns got four hits.

Don Hurst of the Phillips also got four hits against the Braves, but his mates couldn't help him much and lost to the league leaders, 9 to 4. The Phillips knocked Sock Seibold out of the box but had not luck with old Tom Zachary, his successor.

Chicago stayed right on the heels of the Braves by outslugging Pittsburgh, 8 to 6. The Cubs put on a five run uprising in the seventh. Billy Herman, Chicago's rookie second baseman, chipped in with four hits.

Detroit and the White Sox were rained out.

Fail To Score

In Seven Innings

Ryantown and Soda Jerkers played a scoreless tie yesterday in a seven inning game on Glasser field. Only four hits were allowed by rival pitchers, three of whom were used by the Jerkers. Davies fanned 10.

Score by innings:

R. H. E.
Ryantown 000 000 000-0 2 2
Soda Jerkers 000 000 000-0 2 0

Batteries: Ryantown, Davies and Herno; Soda Jerkers, Morozek, Ostrowski and Smialoski.

Swift Weakens And Cubs Win Heavy Hitting Game

PITTSBURGH, May 4—Chicago Cubs and the Pirates indulged in a batting spree yesterday at Forbes Field and the Cubs won 8-6. Swift pitched effectively for six innings for the Pirates while Bob Smith managed to stagger through the limit for the Cubs. Swift was succeeded by Spencer and Brane.

The Pirates had a three to two lead going into the seventh when the Cubs made five runs. The Pirates made three more runs and the Cubs one. The first run of the game was a home run by Third Baseman Hack. Dave Barbee also clouted a four-ply swat. The box score:

One-Armed Yale Captain Is Star

Cap. Eddie Warren Of Yale Baseball Team Stages Real "Comeback"

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 4—A "comeback" unparalleled in the history of baseball was recorded today by "Eddie" Warren, one-armed captain of the Yale team.

Last summer Warren lost an arm in a motorboat accident. Yesterday he was the star of a game which Wesleyan lost to Yale, 15 to 2. This is what he did:

At the plate, Warren got a hit and a pass that enabled him to score two runs. In the fourth inning with the bases full and the Wesleyan infield drawn in for a play at the plate, Warren caught one on the nose with such a clout that the shortstop was thrown off balance and threw wide to the plate, allowing a run to score.

In the field, the Yale captain had but one chance but this he handled flawlessly, making the catch, discarding his glove, and returning the ball to the infield, stopping the scoring threat.

Of Interesting Things Around New

It isn't really summer until the basket picnics start, but this year they got them under way early. Indoors in fact. The members of the Epworth church held one of these tureen affairs which is only a high bar term for a basket picnic.

At that I'm not so sure but an indoor basket picnic has a trifle on its outdoor brethren. You get as much food, more perhaps, but you miss the spiders, the red ants, the horse flies, the rain drops and the like.

Looks like an epidemic of gardens this year. On practically every road around the city's edge you can find plots plowed up and dug up. Down below Montgomery avenue the garden plots are beginning to take shape, and out Cascade street way the same condition obtains.

If all the onions planted this season were laid end to end one end would be up against the Empire State Building and the other in the studios of Hollywood.

There's a beauty spot out in Union Township that never gets mentioned, or perhaps you know about it. Can't give you the exact location of it, but it is known as Oakwood and why is more than I can figure out.

Should be known as Beechwood dust in your salad, that you get outside.

And one makes just as much a porcine of himself at an indoor feed of that kind as he does outdoors. Too much meat loaf, too much potato salad, too much baked beans means too much waist line and we're still a bit groggy after that bout last night.

Met a young fellow in a hurry Tuesday afternoon. Under his arm was a kit of tools, and a jag of lumber he was going to use in repairing something or other and he was in a hurry. It was his birthday and he should have been off enjoying himself somewhere, but he's leaving that until he gets older. It was William Reck, who has been carpen-tering around these parts for longer than you can remember. He was eighty two yesterday but you could never prove it by his looks or actions.

Imagine finding one of the things in your bed. Or having one of them slide up to your chair in the dining room.
